OBREGON BRINGS PEACE TO MEXICO BY HARD EFFORT

One-Armed President Seems To Have Firm Grip On Much Troubled Country

WORKS 16 HOURS DAILY

Hundreds Of Foreigners In Capital Clamoring For Concessions

(Reuter's Service)

Mexico City, March 11, (by mail).—President Obregon during the first three months of his administration has met several uprisings in different parts of the republic with energetic military measures, but the schootings at sunrise which had been predicted have not been recorded. Nevertheless, he is not menaced with any apparent revolutionary element which seriously threatens his control.

Some of President Obregon's efforts to solve economic and industrial problems have suffered defeat. His banking scheme was rejected by the Chamber of Deputies. His critics complain that he has failed to outline a definite policy in regard to the operation of the oil-fields, one of the disturbing factors in Mexican affairs.

Obregon's agrarian law has been so bitterly opposed by the Catholic church that the Archbishop of Mexico has called upon his parishioners to resist it to the utmost.

The problem of assisting the millions of peons is one of the chief industrial questions. These poor people must first be given work to enable to live and then must be educated. Speaking more than 100 dialects, they form a mass of heterogeneous population that is not easily moulded into a national unit.

Federal commissions are now investigating Indian life, which embraces the bulk ot the peon population, with a view to assisting them in fulfilling their immediate needs. Schools are to follow, and the necessaries of life have been made available.

Although confronted by these tasks, President Obregon has been compelled to absent himself from the national capital at times, either on account of illness or to rest. When he has been able, he has spent 16 hours a day at the Palace. He arrives there without escort or guard, passing through the streets with far less ostentation than hundreds of foreigners who are here to join in the general clamour for concessions.

At night, he romps with his boys or plays billiards despite his loss of one arm. He meets on an average of 100 persons daily at the palace and in the newspapers several days ago he apologised for being unable to meet more.

HOOVER FAVORS CHINA TRADE ACT

Secretary Of Commerce Supports Contention Of Business Men Here

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, April 8.—Exemption of the profits of American concerns doing business in foreign countries from the American Excess Profits and Income-Tax Laws is advocated by Mr. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce. Provision should be made to exempt the portion of their profits derived from foreign business, to enable firms to meet competition, Mr. Hoover declared.

U.S. To Formulate New Radio Policy

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, April 10.—The organisation of a permanent inter-departmental committee on communications will be recommended to President Harding as the result of a conference among representatives of the State, War, Commerce and Post Office Departments. The particular purpose of this committee is the formulation of a policy applicable to radio communications.

GREEK PREMIER QUITS

Athens, April 10.—M. Calogeropoulos has resigned the premiership. M. Gounaris has formed a new cabinet with M. Baltazzi as Minister for Foreign Affairs and M. Theokotis as Minister for War.

Germany's Ex-Kaiserin Reported Dead

Augusta Victoria

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 11.—The death is reported of the ex-Kaiserin.

Note.—Augusta Victoria, Princess of Schleswig Holstein, was born at Dolzig on October 22, 1858 and married the ex-Kaiser, who was then Prince Wilhelm of Prussia, on February 27, 1881.

SOUTH REQUESTS RECOGNITION OF PEKING ENVOYS

Ambassadors On Way To Foreign Countries; Dr. Wu To Be Premier

Recognition of the South China Republic, headed by Dr. Sun Yat-sen, recently elected president, is asked in a memorandum sent to the members of the Diplomatic Corps in Peking by Dr. Wu Ting-fang, acting as Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Canton administration.

The message states that the Southern Government is sending Mr. Tai En-san to the United States, Mr. Wang Ching-wei to France, Mr. Chang Chi to Japan and Mr. Ho Yung-tseng to England as diplomatic agents.

Although the personnel of the new Cabinet under Dr. Sun has not been publicly announced, it is understood that the list will consist of Dr. Wu as Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs concurrently; General Chen Chiung-ming as Minister War; Admiral Tang Ting-kwan, Minister of Navy; Mr. Sun Hung-yi, Interior; Tsiang Chen-kwei, General Staff; Wang Peh-chun, Communications; Miao Chung-kai, Finance; Mr. Hsu Chien, Justice; and Woo Chi-hui, Education. A gold seal is being engraved for Dr. Sun as the official Presidential insignia.

Enthusiastic celebrations have been held in Canton. Newspapers there have suspended publication in observation of the occasion. The attitude of the Hongkong Chinese, however, is indifferent.

Mr. Tang Shao-yi has publicly opposed the election and is back at his home in Hoensan.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 11.—A foreign official who has arrived here from Canton states that Tang Shao-yi is dissatisfied with the election of the Southern president and has announced his intention of leaving Canton, while Chen Chiung-ming has expressed the opinion that the election of Dr. Sun Yat-sen is premature. The next ten days will probably bring important developments which will decide whether Dr. Sun Yat-sen shall remain the ruler of Kwantung.

Hongkong, April 11.—The Hongkong Telegraph states that the meeting at which Dr. Sun Yat-sen was elected, in granting powers to the new president, passed an additional clause to the effect that the President shall have full power to appoint or dismiss all officials, whatever their rank.

Tang Shao-yi was absent from Canton at the time of the election. It is stated that Wu Ting-fang is seeking the recognition of the foreign Powers.

It is believed that the inauguration of Dr. Sun Yat-sen will take place within the next ten days.

Canton, April 10.—Owing to their opposition to the election of Dr. Sun Yat-sen as President, several members of Parliament are leaving Canton.

PLAGUE IN MUKDEN

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 11.—Two suspected cases of plague have occurred at Mukden and the government is urging Chang Tso-lin to take the most vigorous measures to prevent its spreading.

EXPLORER HERE, HEADING QUEST FOR MISSING LINK

Roy Chapman Andrews Arrives To Begin Five-Year Search

OTHERS TO FOLLOW

American Scientists To Co-Operate With Chinese Experts

Heading the greatest scientific expedition of its kind in history, Mr. Roy Chapman Andrews, famous explorer and scientist, has arrived in China to take the preliminary steps for a five-year quest beyond the dim borders of Central Asia in search of facts concerning the evolution and development of primitive man.

Mr. Andrews, accompanied by Mrs. Andrews and their son, reached Shanghai Sunday on the steamer Golden State, bringing with them a huge quantity of equipment which will be used in establishing headquarters for the research work and in the excursions themselves. They expect to leave here tomorrow morning for Peking, where the headquarters will be located and a survey of the situation will be made, with a view to determining in which quarter of the interior operations are to be started.

HAS STRONG BACKING

The project which Mr. Andrews is to guide is under the joint direction of the American Museum of Natural History, Asia Magazine and the American Asiatic Association and is lent financial backing by a number of the wealthiest and most influential capitalists in America. Among the subscribers to the fund are Mr. J. P. Morgan, Mr. J. D. Rockefeller, Jr., Mr. Thomas Lamont, Mr. H. P. Davison, Mr. Albert Wiggin, Mrs. Willard Straight, Mr. George F. Baker, Mr. Sidney Colgate, Mr. Charles Frick and Mr. W. Averill Harriman. A quarter of a million dollars, gold, has been raised to carry on the investigations, which, at present rates of exchanges, means that Mex. $100,000 a year may be devoted to the work.

For the present, Mr. Andrews said yesterday, the time will be given over to reconnaisance work. The season will be too late by the time the next contingent of scientists arrives to pierce far into the interior this year, but by next March it is hoped to have operations in full swing. This year Mr. Andrews hopes to accomplish a great deal of preliminary research work and he expects to begin a trip into Mongolia, if political conditions permit, some time in June or July.

LOOK FOR PRIMITIVE MAN

During the past few months much has been published about the so-called "missing link" expedition. Mr. Andrews yesterday stated its purposes and hopes.

"The expedition" he said, "will devote itself to general scientific work. Its outstanding single problem is that of obtaining information regarding the origin and development of man and the migration of the human race. We don't exactly expect to find primitive human remains, but we hope for it.

"The region we are to cover has never been investigated and it is the feeling among most men of science that Central Asia is the place where human evolution took place. We are going to find out whether it was or was not.

"It is the biggest attempt of its kind yet made and half a dozen branches of science will be brought to bear upon the problem. We have allowed five years for our researches and expect to proceed along an accumulative line, each year's work forming the basis for that of the next. This first year, for instance, will be given over to the study of birds, animals, fish and reptiles and of fossil remains—zoology and paleontology. Later will come consideration of geological, archaelogical and anthropological features."

TO FILL NEW MUSEUM

In its program the expedition includes, not the one merely, but three important objectives. First of these is the purely scientific information to be secured, which will be published. Then it is also part of the plan to secure specimens and material for installation in a new million dollar hall which is to be added to the American Museum, to be known as the hall of Asiatic Life. Beyond this it is the object of the leaders and backers of the project to stimulate scientific work in China by the Chinese. This last feature Mr. Andrews stresses as being of very great importance.

"We come with the strongest desire for co-operation with the

MONTEAGLE MEN RISK THEIR LIVES TO SAVE STEAMER

Thrilling Tales Of Bravery Brought By Liner's Passengers

PUT TO SEA IN BOATS

Chinese And Foreign Members Of Crew Prove Reckless Of Danger

A story thrilling with bravery and risk of life on the part of the officers and crew of the C.P.O.S. steamship Monteagle was told yesterday by one of her passengers, while recounting the rescue of six foreigners and sixty Chinese of the crew of the sinking French cargo steamer Hsintien, during the storm at sea on April 8 near the Lamocks lighthouse, when the sinking French steamer was heading for the beach with all hope abandoned.

Three boats were put off by the Monteagle, the first manned by Chinese crew, and two by volunteer foreign members of the crew. Several times the Canadian Pacific liner encircled the stricken vessel, while it was finally lying at anchor near the rocks. The rough sea was too much for the Chinese crews of both the Monteagle and of the Hsintien: the boats the latter launched were capsised almost as soon as they were set into the water.

RESCUE FOREIGNER

The distress signals of the sinking Hsintien were seen by the Monteagle first at 8 a.m. on the 8th. High seas prevailed. The vessel was deeply laden with rice. Upon reaching the stricken steamer the Monteagle launched two boats, which despite the heavy sea got fairly close and at the first attempt rescued one foreign passenger who, clad in gloves and with camera hung from shoulder, had leaped into the sea, and ten of the Chinese crew.

The steamer Amazone, of the Messageries Maritimes picked up the wireless call from the Monteagle, and about ten o'clock arrived upon scene, and stood by. It anchored about 500 yards astern of the Hsintien. At this time the sinking steamer was making slow headway toward the Lamock lighthouse, apparently with the object of beaching, but in view of the dangerous nature of the rocks it was soon decided by the ship's officers not to risk beaching so the anchor was cast out, and all hope pinned upon the efforts of the Monteagle.

The Monteagle, at this stage veered around the smaller ship several times, and at an opportune moment launched another boat manned by a foreign crew, which succeeded in getting under the stern of the Hsintien and took off five foreign officers and nineteen members of the crew. The last encirclement was at 2:30 p.m., when the Monteagle passed so close to the Hsintien that a stone might have been thrown aboard. The crew of the doomed ship at this time was seen huddled on the poop, frantically waving for help while the French officers indicated that they would attempt to swim. Both sea and wind had increased considerably since noon, and an attempt at swimming, had it been made, would have proven hopeless.

LINER TOWS LIFEBOAT

The Monteagle steamed again, slowly across the bows of the Hsintien, and the boat was put off again. Owing to the violent sea, however, it was impossible to get close on the first attempt, and the life-boat was taken in tow by the Monteagle, until coming close again a second attempt was made and a line fastened to the stern of the sinking ship. This last attempt saw thirty-one of the remainder of the crew, taken off, making a total rescued of six foreigners, and 60 Chinese. The Hsintien foundered three quarters of an hour after the last member of the crew was rescued.

The rescue party of the Monteagle included: Chief Officer Ferguson, First Officer Campbell Assistant Purser Vaux, Fifth Engineer Plewes, Sixth Engineer Hussey, Electrician McDonald, Carpenter Flam, Storekeeper Beagent, and Cadets Ranniger and Walsh.

The awkward position of the Hsintien, it was said yesterday by passengers on the C.P.O.S. liner, rendered the navigation of the Monteagle most delicate and difficult, and this fact contributed in a large measure to the success of the rescue work. During the operations the Hsintien succeeded in launching two boats, one of which capsised soon after taking the water, and causing the death of four of the crew.

A purse was taken up last night and presented to the members of the Monteagle's rescue crew in appreciation for their work.

The Unexpurgated Diary Of A Shanghai Baby

By Elsie McCormick

APRIL tenth—Sunday again. Like Sunday because there are so many papers on the floor for me to rattle, though family won't let me stay in living-room very long. Tailor came this morning with new dress, and mama told papa that the Chinese have a genius for higher mathematics because they can take seven yards of georgette crepe, make a five-yard dress and have nothing left over. Papa said, "Uh-huh," and turned over the page of his pink sheet to see what Jiggs was doing.

"Look at baby with the newspaper," said Auntie. "Pretty soon he will be reading the comics."

"Yes," said mama, "If he can ever get them away from his dad." Papa is still reading pictures. Guess I'll play with the Want Ad. section.

APRIL tenth. Still Sunday. Auntie put record on phonograph and began to practice new dance. "I'll have to learn all the latest side-steps," said Auntie, "Dancing is getting more complicated than ever." "Every little movement sems to have a meaning of its own."

"Yes," said papa, "And if some of the meanings were translated into words, they couldn't be sent through the mails. I've certainly seen some weird dancing in this town."

"Have you?" said mama, looking interested, "I suppose you'll see some more of it when Ethel and I and the baby go up to Kuling for the summer."

"Well," said papa, "the houseboy is a good fellow and he and I have many things in common, including my tobacco and silk socks, but that doesn't mean that I'm coming home early every evening you're away to play tiddledewinks with him."

Mama went out and banged door. Through with papers. Wish amah would come upstairs and bring me my wooden elephant. Want to bite on back tooth.

APRIL tenth—Sat on dining-room floor during tiffin, as amah was busy in basement telling next-door amah all about Ethel's dates, Bertie, and mama's new dress. Papa said that if the houseboy didn't learn that he wanted to eat the food and not merely look at it, he was going to chain down the plates. "He doesn't let a course pause in front of me any longer than the deacon halts the hat when taking up a collection at church," said papa.

"Maybe he is fussed because you are here," said mama, "He is not very fond of strangers."

"Well, if that cook was as good a performer on the kitchen range as he is on the Chinese piccolo, I wouldn't eat so many meals away from home," papa said.

I started to tell them a little later that I wanted amah to come upstairs and give me some chow.

"Listen to baby," mama said, "Isn't it funny how he talks all the time without saying anything?"

"I always said he took after you," said papa, reaching for hat and diving toward door.

"I'm not the only member of the family he takes after," mama shouted down the hall, "Have you ever noticed how fond he is of his bottle?"

Papa shut front door hard and went down street.

APRIL tenth—Sunday afternoon. New man called to take Auntie to a place they called the Golden State. "Who is that infant I saw Ethel going out with?" said papa, coming in just after they left, "Has she taken to teaching a kindergarten class?"

"He is no infant," said mama, "He was in the war two years and was wounded twice."

"I didn't know they mobilised the Boy Scouts," said papa, picking up the paper again.

Didn't hear any more because amah carried me off to take a nap.

APRIL eleventh—Still raining some. Sat in basement while next-door amah told our amah all about the girl in her house. Didn't pay much attention, as was busy watching coolie wash his clothes with mama's perfumed complexion soap. Other amah went home bye and bye and our amah cracked some watermelon seeds for me. Pleasant morning.

APRIL eleventh—Mama told papa at tiffin that she had gotten a letter from Aunt Lucy at home, asking her to send two or

TRIPLE STRIKE ORDER MAY BE CALLED OFF; CONFERENCES ARRANGED

Miners Agree To Meet Representatives Of Owners And Government; Some Prospect For Cancellation Of Alliance Walkout

TROOP MOVEMENTS ARE CONTINUED

Pumpmen Permitted To Return To Work, With Result That Destruction Of Mines Will Be Averted; Many Railwaymen Apathetic Toward Strike

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 11.—Saturday's decision that the miners should not interfere with measures to secure the safety of the mines was followed by prompt results throughout the country. Except in Fifeshire the mine officials restarted pumping yesterday afternoon, and resumption on a general scale is expected today. The regular pumpmen throughout South Wales have announced their intention of returning to work.

Meanwhile the Government is not relaxing its efforts to cope with a possible crisis. Hopeful factors in connection with today's conference lie in the annoucement that the Government is prepared to offer temporary financial assistance to the less productive collieries and in the completion of the owners' scheme for improvement of the wage scales offered.

London, April 10.—The dramatic announcement at the close of the Triple Alliance meeting is hailed as affording more than a gleam of hope in regard to the strike situation. It came late at night, following upon a continuous series of conferences which lasted all day. These were accompanied by warlike preparations, including heavy recruiting and the despatch of naval men to the mining districts.

A cabinet meeting was attended by Admiral Lord Jellicoe and Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, and was followed by most comprehensive military preparations, including the appointment of the Earl of Cavan as General Officer Commanding for London, and the distribution of troops amongst the various strategical centers.

OBSTACLE REMOVED

The main virtue of the new development on the part of the Miners' Federation is that, while it does not involve any substantial change in the position of the strikers, it means the removal of the initial obstacle, after which, the negotiations, although admittedly fraught with difficulties, will be conducted in a more conciliatory atmosphere. Prospects are also held out of the cancellation of the strike of railwaymen and transport workers.

London, April 10.—The present more hopeful situation as regards the coal dispute is due to a new proposal made by Mr. Lloyd George to the railwaymen's and transport-workers' delegates yesterday, namely, that the Government would not insist upon the return of the engine-men to work before resuming negotiations, but that the miners must agree in return not to interfere with the volunter pumpers.

The railwaymen's and transport-workers' leaders urged the miners to accept this proposal, and the Triple Alliance finally issued its statement announcing the resumption of negotiations on Monday, and urging abstention from provocative actions.

Though the outlook is regarded as hopeful, precautionary measures are not being relaxed. The recruiting of volunteers continues briskly, and the War Office states that the response to its appeal to form defence units has exceeded all expectations. It is officially stated that the country's stocks of food are sufficient for the present, but an order has been issued, prohibiting householders from acquiring more than a week's supply of any foodstuff.

RAILMEN APATHETIC

Meanwhile, evidences are accumulating to show that the Triple Alliance's threat of a strike is by no means wholeheartedly supported by its members. Many railwaymen declared that they will disobey the strike order, while the reluctance of some of the Transport-workers to engage in the struggle is indicated in a resolution passed by a mass meeting of a thousand members of the United Vehicle Workers at Birmingham today, calling upon the Triple Alliance to postpone its strike notices until April 17, and to take a ballot of all the members.

London, April 9.—A deputation of railwaymen and transport-workers waited on the Prime Minister this morning. The ostensible motive of the visit was to communicate the decision of the Triple Alliance to strike from midnight on Tuesday, but the real motive is generally regarded as an effort to secure an outlet to the deadlock, as there is a strong feeling that the week-end must be utilised to avert the threatened catastrophe of a general strike.

The railwaymen's and transport-workers' first meeting with Mr. Lloyd George and other members of the Government has already been followed by a second prolonged conference, and it is stated that a third meeting is probable.

ALLIANCE HOLDS MEETING

The Triple Alliance held a meeting this evening at the conclusion of which it was officially announced that the miners and coal-owners would confer again on Monday morning, and also that the Miners' Federation would tonight issue notices to branches of the Federation, urging all its members to abstain from all action which would interfere with the measures necessary for the safety of the mines, or which would necessitate the use of force by the Government.

Reports from Glasgow, Edinburgh, Liverpool, Dudley and other railway centres show that the railwaymen disapprove of their Executive's strike action. It is expected that at least 50 percent of the railwaymen will remain at work. The Government's promise of protection to volunteer pumpmen has resulted in a good response to the coal-owners' appeal for men, and pumping at the pits has increased throughout the country. Scenes reminiscent of early war-time recruiting were witnessed at the enlistment centres since dawn today.

Mr. Chambers, the agent of the Midlothian and Haddington Miners' Association has been arrested at Dalkeith, with two miners, and remanded on a charge of rioting at the collieries. Five miners have been remanded at Hamilton, Lanarkshire, on a similar charge.

HUNDREDS VIEW "GOLDEN STATE;" SAILING TODAY

Reception Is Held By Pacific Mail Aboard New, Dry "535" Liner

The new Pacific Mail Steamship Company's liner, the Golden State leaves here at daylight today on the last half of its first tour of the Orient, enroute Manila and Hongkong.

A reception was held Sunday afternoon on board the liner at the China Merchants Lower Wharf, at which a large number of Shanghai residents visited the ship. The boat showed well with her green painting, her low wide funnels, her big promenade decks, and her business-like cranes.

The Golden States was really "dry," as anticipated—the first prohibition boat ever to touch in China. Asked yesterday as to what advantages may have accrued to a bar-less voyage, officers of the ship expressed their doubts, as also did passengers, some of whom even were dubious that the ship was, in fact, as "dry" as advertised.

The passengers arriving Sunday on the Golden State, included the Roy Chapman Andrews scientific expedition, which comes to China in search of the cradle of humanity, the "missing link," which is expected to be found somewhere in the depths of western Mongolia.

The Golden State is officered by veterans of the Pacific Mail company: Capt. George W. Yardley, formerly of the Ecuador; First Officer Earl N. Storey, off the Venezuela; chief Engineer F. P. Littlefield, off the Columbia; Purser T. J. Carroll, off the Ecuador; Freight Clerk S. W. Barr off the Venezuela; Surgeon C. B. Pedersen and Chief Steward E. L. Hawes, of the Columbia.

STEAMER HERVAR, 7TH OF ITS CLASS, TAKES THE WATER

Last But One Of Norwegian Company's Far East Fleet Launched

The steamer Hervar, the seventh of its class to be built in Shanghai on a contract for eight, was launched at the Yangtszepoo docks of the New Engineering and Shipbuilding Works, yesterday afternoon at 3:40 p.m., for the Norwegian firm of Bruusgaard, Kiosterud and company, O. Thoresen and company, Shanghai agents. The boat was christened by Mrs. C. Andersen, wife of Captain Andersen, of the same company's steamer Heudrik, now in Far Eastern coast trade.

A good representation of Norwegian consular and shipping interests, together with officials of the constructing company, with guests, was present. The yards, docks and the boat were gaily decorated with the colors of Norway coupled with those of England. The boat took the water gracefully.

Following the launching a tea-banquet was held in the Shipyards' office rooms. Mr. A. W. Burkill, for the company spoke of the friendly relations existant between his company and the ship's owners, of the future of Shanghai as a shipbuilding port, and complimented the surveyors and superintendents of the Norwegian company for their co-operation during construction time. He concluded with a toast to the newly launched ship.

A responce by the Norwegian Consul-General, Mr. N. Aall, congratulated the shipbuilding company on their work for the Norwegian company. He spoke shortly of the depression in the shipping business, but hoped confidently for better times soon to come. He was particularly gratified for the efforts of the New Shipbuilding company in building up Norway's commercial fleet for the Far East and for the reasonableness of costs of shipbuilding in China. He believed that the construction of the eight vessels for his company must surely lead to further contracts for Shanghai. A toast to the health, and prosperity of the New Engineering and Shipbuilding company, and its staff followed.

Mr. O. Thoresen, the Shanghai agents for the Norwegian company spoke, shortly, followed by Mr. A. W. Brankston, of the constructing company. On behalf of the latter company, Mrs. Anderson was presented with a platinum pendant, and for the ships' owners, a diamond ring.

IN COAST TRADE

The Hervar goes into Far Eastern coast trade, joining her six sister ships already in service. The boats are of 2,000 ton dead weight carrying capacity; they measure 254 feet overall, 242 feet between perpendiculars, 37 feet moulded breadth and 17 feet moulded depth. A speed of ten knots under load, is specified, though during trials, under ballast eleven and a half knots were done.

Clear holds, with large hatches feature the inner structure of the Hervar type boats. They have four tubular steel derricks to each of two masts, six steam winches at the hatches and one on the poop. Officers are berthed amidships, with the crew in the poop, and separate quarters for Chinese crews.

Propelling machinery is situated amidships. There is one set, triple expansion, capable of 1,100 horse-power. Auxiliary pumps, steam windlasses, electric plant, evaporator and condenser, complete the equipment.

The Hervar's sister ship will be launched within six weeks.

Inman Bill Passes California Senate

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Sacramento, Cal., April 8.—After a spirited debate, the California State Senate has passed by 30 votes to four, the Inman Bill, to prohibit aliens ineligible for American citizenship from fishing the ocean waters of California.

Mr. Inman said that the measure was designed to eliminate large Japan fishing stakes, in consideration of the possibility of war. The Senator explained this by saying: "We may well consider the possibility of war with Japan certainly Japan is considering it. Read the magazine articles of marquis Okuma saying that war with the United States is inevitable."

three Mandarin coats as souvenirs of China.

"Did she send a check with her little request?" papa asked.

"Not so you could notice it," mama answered, shaking the letter.

"They never do," said papa. "People at home seem to think that all you have to do in China to get a Mandarin coat is to bait a trap with some chop suey and wait for a Mandarin to walk into it. Are you going to send her any?"

"No," said mama, "I've decided to wait until she goes to France this summer and then ask her to send me two or three little frocks from the Rue de la Paix as souvenirs of Paris."

"That's the stuff," said papa.

Southern Farmer Drowned Negroes, Foreman Testifies

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Covington, Georgia, April 8.—At the trial of John Williams, the planter who (as reported by Reuter on March 29) is charged with having murdered 11 negroes in order to prevent them testifying that he had forced them to work as peons (serfs), Clyde Manning, Williams' negro farm boss, told the jury that fear for his life had prompted him to help kill the negroes. He did not want to kill them, he asserted, but he was afraid to disobey Williams.

The negroes were killed, Manning said, shortly after Federal Agents had started the investigation of reported peonage on the Williams plantation. Six of the negroes were charged with rocks and thrown alive into the river, Manning declared, and the other five were knocked on the head, or shot, and buried at the farm.

(Reuter's Service)

New York, April 11.—The planter, John Williams, who was charged with the murder of eleven negroes in order to prevent their testifying that he had forced them to work as peons, has been found guilty of the murder of one negro and has been sentenced to penal servitude for life.

Landslides Follow Quakes In Kansu

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Kuyuan, April 11.—Messrs. Hayes and Hall, who are investigating the earthquake conditions in Kansu, arrived here today after passing through the center of the affected district. They report that 16 immense landslides occurred in Chingning valley besides burying the villages in the valley floor and damning the streams in the valley.

Further destruction equalling that of the quake itself is threatened. The investigators are convinced that the most necessary and only effective form of relief work is the immense excavation which must be done immediately in order to have it finished by the rainy season in Summer.

The shocks still continue, particularly in the Northern quake belt. They are not doing any damage but they arouse a great deal of disturbance among the cowed populace. The intense cold here is making the situation worse.

SILK STOCKS IN N.Y. SHRINK; BIG CALL FOR CREPES

Favorable Exchange Stimulates Trade In Italian Brands

(Reuter's Service)

New York, March 11, (by mail).—There is a little more activity in the local raw silk market. The demand, however, is confined principally to spot silk and for nearby delivery. Quotations are irregular. Sales of the best grade of Kansai were recorded yesterday at $6.70, other grades scaling down to $6.00 for No. 1 Shinshui, but large buyers say that they can get stock at concessions, as compared with these prices.

Stocks in importers' hands are light, and there is reported to be a scarcity in coarse sizes in Japan and China silks, while spot silk of the new style Canton is in great demand; the top price asked for 20-22 is $4.60. The situation in New York is best depicted by the shrinkage of stocks of raw silk in the local warehouses, which have registered a reduction of about 17,000 bales in two months over and above new arrivals since the beginning of the year. There were 44,536 bales on hand in January 1; 31,859 bales on February 1, and 27,928 on March 1st.

Favorable exchange conditions have stimulated renewed interest in Italian raws, which are offered at attractive prices, but after several years' interruption, of the use of these silks by American mills, their reintroduction is necessarily slow, and buyers are proceeding cautiously. It may be noted in this connection that the 27,928 bales in storage here on March 1st, consisted of 21,243 Japanese, 210 Italian and 6,475 bales of all other silk.

The demand for crepe weaves continues and there is every indication that the sales of this fabric will soon show a heavy increase as this type of merchandise is making a strong appeal to women buyers. There is also a fair demand for crepe de Chine goods, which appear to be second in favor.

Hughes Defends Australia's Stand

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, April 10.—Speaking in the House of Representatives, the Prime Minister, Mr. Hughes, said that Australia had no quarrel with America or Japan. Australia, he said, had her ideals and Japan had hers and for all practical purposes Australia saw eye to eye with the western states of America. It was utterly wrong of the Japanese to think that because Australia had passed certain laws, she regarded the Japanese as inferiors. Australia's treatment of the Japanese, Mr. Hughes added, compared favorably with Japan's treatment of foreigners generally.

DAUGHERTY'S POLICY

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, April 8.—Attorney-General H. K. Daugherty announced that the Department of Justice did not intend to harass business in any way, but it did intend to enforce the law. He pointed out that while certain sections of the Lever Act had been declared unconstitutional, the Department would proceed under the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

Thrice Wed Sailor Will Not Face Trial

Frank Leon Mason, the American ex-naval man who married a Russian girl twice in Shanghai and once in Vladivostok, and later, during his wife's absence, took a second wife, an American will not be tried for bigamy, even though he has admitted that the ceremony with the American girl was a bigamous ceremony.

The Russian wife, Mrs. Marjorie Viola Mason, according to San Francisco newspapers has decided that her outraged feelings would not allow her to accept the support of her three-time husband, who had regarded their marital ties so lightly as to marry another woman while she was on a visit to Russia following her mother's death.

A suit for annulment of the marriage resulted. Mrs. Mason refused to prosecute Mason on a charge of bigamy, despite advice of counsel. She wishes only to be free of him, she said. She has gone to live with her husband's mother during the progress of the annulment proceedings.

Mason, it is learned, proposed to his Russian wife that he should procure an annulment of his marriage to his American wife, provided the Russian girl would return to him. Her decision was held in abeyance some days. Finally she decided that his offense was too great and legal action for annulment was begun.

Penrose Proposes To Scrap Ship Board

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, April 9.—Senator Penrose, discussing tax revision and retrenchment of expenditure, urged that the Shipping Board should go to the scrap-heap, as there was gigantic evidence of its incompetence, and its rescue was hopeless.

Philadelphia, April 9.—Admiral Benson, chairman of the Shipping Board, declared that the Shipping Board was destined to be a permanent institution, and would live as long as the American merchant marine. As regards the present shipping losses, he said these should be accepted for the time being, for the purpose of keeping down foreign freights.

Harding's Yap Note Key To Foreign Policy

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 11.—A telegram from Washington states that the recent note of the United States to the Allies in regard to the Yap question is the key to President Harding's policy. It sets forth the principle which America will stubbornly maintain and which is capable of extension to all the major questions at issue with the Allies.

If the validity of the principle is conceded the development of President Harding's policy along the line of most helpful and friendly co-operation with the Allies may be confidently expected, but if the contrary should be the case, then the attitude of America towards a separate peace with Germany, the financial obligations of the Allies and the problems of the Pacific would change unpleasantly.

Demurrers Are Argued In G. L. Shaw Libel Case

Arguments on the two demurrers to the petition of George L. Shaw, of Antung, which charged the Far Eastern Review, naming George Bronson Rea as publisher, and Patrick Gallagher as editor, with libel, and asked $100,000 damages, were heard in the United States Court for China yesterday afternoon, by Judge C. S. Lobingier. Mr. Jaul M. Linebarger appeared for the defendant Gallagher, Mr. J. B. Davies for the defendant Rea, and Mr. Stirling Fessenden for the plaintiff Shaw.

The demurrers, which were filed some time ago, both stated in effect that the petition was not specific in its particulars as to the damages suffered nor the general facts in the case. The alleged libelous article implied, it is claimed, that Mr. Shaw was a Sinn Feiner, an Asiatic Sinn Feiner, and an "enemy to Great Britain, and her Allies."

The article was not libelous, Mr. Davies maintained throughout his argument. His client, Mr. Rea, was not present when it was written, nor had he seen it until it appeared in public print. There was no allegation of special damages mentioned in Mr. Shaw's petition, as is required by law. The law is very clear on that point: There can be no case without an allegation of specific damages.

DEFINES LIBEL

The legal definition of libel was taken up. Libel must be the malicious publication of a report tending to blacken the name or memory of some person, Mr. Davies read. But in the Far Eastern Review article, he said, Shaw's name was mentioned but three times and the only objectionable part, it would appear, was the reference to Mr. Shaw as an "Asiatic Sinn Fein."

To call a man a Sinn Feiner, Mr. Davies contended, was not libel. President de Valera of the Irish republic, on his recent visit to the United States, was welcomed with honor; he was feted at every turn by certain elements—received with open arms. And when Mrs. Terrence McSwiney, wife of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, went to America, she was accorded the same enthusiasm and honor.

"To call a man a member of an accredited political party" Mr. Davies said, "can be no crime. To call a man a Sinn Feiner is just like calling a man a Tory, a Whig, a Democrat or a Republican."

'NO PERSONAL ANIMUS'

Mr. Davies read an authority, a Member of Parliament, who described a Sinn Fein in his Book, "Ireland as a Nation," as an "organised movement for National self reliance." Some other people, Mr. Davies said, have misinterpreted the meaning of the words Sinn Fein. One of these persons, he said, was Mr. Lloyd George, who has said that a Sinn Fein means "self first." But this interpretation was wrong, he maintained.

The Far Eastern Review's article, Mr. Davies continued, could not come within the required grounds for libel actions: an imputation of crimes, a publication tending to injure one's business or trade, or, one tending to place the libelled person in a ridiculous or contemptuous position. The possible cause applicable, in the Shaw suit, Mr. Davies said, might be the third. But, he contended, there was no personal animus; the article was purely political; it would be necessary to prove specific damages, he concluded, for Sinn Fein was a well recognised political faction or party, and to be called a Sinn Feiner was in itself no disgrace.

Mr. Linebarger, argued practically along the same lines. The article, he said, was but the fair-minded effort of a fair-minded and brilliant journalist. It could not be classed as libelous.

Mr. Linebarger drew the attention of the court to the principle at law that it is not possible to libel a group, a party or a nation. This point established, he said, the suit necessarily failed, because there was nothing in the body of the article to justify the innuenda contained in the plaintiff's complaint. Mr. Gallagher had not called Mr. Shaw "an enemy of human progress," he had said that Sinn Fein, in Ireland or in Asia was not the friend of America, England or of human progress, Mr. Linebarger submitted.

Mr. Linebarger maintained that the article was one that merited the approval of every American and Briton, honestly interested in an an English-thinking understanding.

MR. FESSENDEN REPLIES

In reply, Mr. Fessenden supported Mr. Shaw's petition. "Any fair-minded man will interpret that article" he said, "as being capable of putting a person in a ridiculous light." Neither Mr. Linebarger nor Mr. Davies," he said, "have placed a fair construction of Mr. Gallagher's statements in the article, which was specially directed at Mr. Shaw." He asked that the article with its "glaring" head be considered as a whole, and for the Court to decide whether or not Mr. Shaw was held out to be an enemy of his country. "And an enemy to his country" Mr. Fessenden concluded "is no different from a traitor."

Decision on the demurrers was reserved.

Devastated Area In France Recovering

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, April 7 (delayed).—Speaking before the Senate today, the Premier, M. Briand, gave the lie to the German allegations representing the French Government as purposely neglecting France's war-stricken districts. M. Briand pointed out that 80 percent of the devastated acreage is now again under cultivation, that 50 percent of the factories are now working, and that the railway lines have almost been fully restored.

A vote was then taken, an overwhelming majority of the Senate asserting their full confidence in the Government.

The French press is unanimous in its approval of M. Briand's stern declaration, as reflecting the country's opinion exactly.

Paris, April 9 (delayed).—The newspapers unanimously regard M. Briand's declaration before the Senate during the allegations by Germany that the French Government was purposely neglecting France's war-stricken districts, as a last warning to Germany and say that a decisive hour is near. The Allied press completely approves the statement of the French Premier and adds that the Allies are determined to stand by M. Briand in demanding the payment of reparations and the execution of justice.

U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, April 8.—Administration officials confidently expect that the Allies will accept the principle that the United States have surrendered no rights in the former over-sea possessions of Germany and that the United States will not be bound by the decisions of the League of Nations without their consent.

Chinese in every way," he said. "It is to be co-operation, throughout, not competition, and there is plenty of work for all of us. The Chinese Geological Survey, under direction of Dr. Ting, has done splendid work along geological and paleontogical lines and they have a very fine little museum in Peking. We hope to work hand in hand with Chinese scientists and do not intend to interfere in the slightest with work which they may be doing now.

WILL GIVE CHINA RESULTS

"When we have finished our labors it is the intention of the directors to give the Chinese Government a duplicate set of whatever material we obtain, with the idea of stimulating the work in this great field. China is the doorway to the most interesting place in the world from a scientific point of view—Central Asia. Scientists generally are of accord in holding it to be the starting point for the human race and the section from which there migrated much of the animal life now found in other parts of the world. We expect big results, for even though we fail to establish our premises as to evolution we shall have accumulated a vast amount of information of highest scientific value and shall have provided—I trust—a strong stimulus to continued study of the region in question and to scientific endeavor generally in China."

STARTING POINT UNDECIDED

The starting point for the field investigations, Mr. Andrews said, will depend upon political and general conditions at the time preparations have been completed. The most fruitful area, the explorer anticipates, will be Chinese Turkestan and Northern Thibet, but research work will be carried on throughout Western Mongolia. In addition to this, and as an adjunct to the main expedition, there will be another expedition which will be sent into Northern India and to Java, where much interesting data is expected to be gathered.

OTHER MEMBERS COMING

Ten prominent scientific men will make up the personnel of the expedition, not including the Chinese experts with whom it is the plan to co-operate. Arriving on the Golden State on her next trip from San Francisco will be Mr. Walter Granger and Mr. George Olsen, paleontologists, and Mr. Clifford Pope, whose province is reptiles and fish. Coming later, by way of Europe, are Professor Berkey, of the chair of Geology at Columbia University, Mr. James Chapin, ornithologist. Mr. Bayard Colgate, who will have charge of motor transport and Mr. Martin Johnson, probably the ablest cinema photographer in America. Other experts will follow them. Mrs. Andrews will accompany the expeditions to make color photographs.

Mr. Andrews brought with him on the Golden State some thirty-eight tons of equipment, including two Fulton motor trucks of special construction which will be used on the Mongolian plateau, where they will be subjected to an exhaustive test. They are of one-ton capacity, light, equipped with pneumatic tires and built for especially rough work. Other motor vehicles also will be used. The rest of the cargo brought out includes much equipment specially built to specifications resultant of Mr. Andrews' previous experience in Mongolia and Western China and materials for the outfitting of laboratories to be established in Peking.

DREAM FULFILLED

The present undertaking is a dream of ten years with Mr. Andrews and he had done much preparatory work toward its fulfilment. In 1916 he conducted investigations and collected many specimens in Szechuen, Yunnan and Burma and in 1919 headed an expedition into Mongolia. Upon the experience acquired on these trips he has planned much of the coming campaign. He expects to remain in the field until the end of 1922, when he will return to the United States for two or three months to plan extension of effort, based upon the results already accomplished.

The interest with which the quest is regarded in America is indicated by the fact that there were requests from over 3,000 persons to join the party. This fact and the general publicity occasioned has given rise to some amusing reports, including a recent one from Peking which announced that Mr. Andrews was bringing out an invading force of 2,000, with financial backing of $80,000,000.

"LIGNOID"

An Ideal Flooring Material

Lignoid is a new composition, whose discovery has opened a new era in the methods of flooring and materials for structural purposes, regarding which architects and engineers have hitherto made so much study and effort. It contains in itself all the merits of such flooring materials as wood, tiles, asphalt, concrete, marble, linoleum, mosaic or tenazzo, and is far superior to them as regards its suitability, which is really ideal, for flooring purposes. The following are its special features:

(1) Character: The principal ingredient of Lignoid being an inorganic substance and contaning certain chemical admixtures, it is non-corrosive and insoluble.
(2) It is incombustible and insulating and remarkably wa terproof.
(3) It makes up, when installed, a solid floor with a fine appearance and being quite free from any tendency to corrision and abrasion, its durability is permanent.
(4) It well withstands heat and cold, and it is remarkably free from the tendency to crack.
(5) It is dust-proof.
(6) Being light and elastic it makes walking pleasant, and gives no sound.
(7) As it adheres firmly to wood, concrete, stone and iron, it never bulges as is the case with linoleum.
(8) No matter how great the space may be on which it is to be need, it can be installed without using any joins.
(9) Its installation is easily carried out by a plasterer.
(10) Cleaning and repairing can be done easily.
(11) Its price is moderate.

No matter how spacious the office, saloon, dining-room, corridor, venandah, etc., it can be put down without any joins. For wainscoting entrance, corridors, bathrooms, laboratories, etc., it is admirable.

A demurrer filed by Mr. F. J. Schuhl in the case of Ellis Ezra versus L. Glemby was argued in the United States Court for China today by Mr. F. J. Schuhl on behalf of the defendant and opposed by Mr. Sterling Fessenden on behalf of the plaintiff. The case concerns an alleged exchange transaction, involving an alleged failure by defendant to deliver £10,000 purchased by contract. Judge C. S. Lobingier reserved judgment.

A former policeman of the Chinese City force appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday on the charge of attempting to extort $60 from a shopkeeper. The plaintiff's shop in the City was robbed last year and six men were subsequently arrested, of whom the complainant's wife identified one. Later it was discovered that these men were not the real culprits and the one identified by the wife demanded compensation for false arrest. The policeman, it was alleged, tried to collect the money. He was cautioned by the Court and required to give bond to keep the peace.

Life Savers Drown Trying To Aid Ship

(Reuter's Service)

Amsterdam, April 10.—A message from the Island of Ameland states that, in response to distress signals from the German schooner "Juiana," a life-boat from the Island of Schiermonnikoog put to sea to render assistance, but capsized, two members of its crew being drowned.

LABORITE DEFEATED

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 10.—The result of the election in the Taunton division of Somerset, occasioned by the resignation of Lieutenant-Colonel D. F. Boles, (Coalition Unionist) resulted as follows:

Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen (Minister of Agriculture) 12,994 votes.

Mr. Lunnon (Labor). 8,290 votes.

At the last general election Lt. Colonel Boles secured a majority of 7,803 votes.

Wheat Growers To Form Organisation

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Chicago, April 10.—The preliminary organisation of an international co-operative marketing association of wheat-growers has been effected, and it is intended to form a company to be known as "Grain Growers, Incorporated."

As soon as the incorporation is effected, a membership drive will be started for the purpose of enrolling every grower. The sponsors of the movement claim that the scheme will curb speculation, lower the cost of marketing and tend to eliminate fluctuations.

Rear Admiral Bailey

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

El Paso, April 9.—Rear-Admiral Frank Harvey Bailey (retired) died at the station here while awaiting a train to take him home to New York. (During the Spanish-American war Admiral Bailey served on the Raleigh in the Philippines).

ASTHMA INSTANTLY RELIEVED

A Noted Physician will prove this to sufferers in Shanghai.

The astonishing statement that Asthma can be relieved instantaneously, coming from so well known authority as Dr. R. Schiffmann, will be of interest to asthma sufferers. The experience of most Asthmatics has been that little, if any, relief has been afforded them by the methods heretofore employed, as well as the disease has been regarded as incurable. This noted physician has, however, after a life-long study of Asthma and kindred diseases, discovered a remedy which instantly relieves the severest cases of Asthma, Hay Fever and Bronchitis. So complete is Dr. Schiffmann's confidence in his remedy that he requests this paper to announce that today and tomorrow he offers a liberal sample box of "Schiffmann's Asthmador" free of charge, to all persons applying at A. S. Watson & Co., Ltd., 16 Nanking Road.

Dr. Schiffmann believes that an actual test will be the most convincing, and in fact the only way to overcome the natural prejudice of thousands of Asthmatics who have heretofore sought relief in vain. Persons residing in other localities, outside of this city, who desire to try this medicine, will be sent a free sample package per post, providing they send simply their name and full address (no other writing on a post card, within the next six days to Muller Phipps & Hodges (China) Ltd., 1B Jinkee Road, Shanghai.

TRADE SLUMP

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 9.—The Board of Trade returns of British foreign trade for March afford further forcible evidence of the prevailing slump in trade. They show exports amounting to nearly £67,000,000 and imports of £94,000,000, which represent decreases of £37,000,000, and £83,000,000 respectively, as compared with the figures for March of last year.

MUTINY ON SHIP

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

San Francisco, April 9.—A mutiny broke out on board the steamer Will Hilo, while off La Union (Salvador), en route from New York to Seattle, and necessitated the summoning of the cruiser Tacoma. According to wireless advices, a boarding party from the cruiser subdued the crew of the Will Hilo, which is proceeding to San Pedro.

CORRESPONDENT TELLS STORY OF PONY BUYING

No Need Of Foreigners To Combine, He Asserts; Dealers Will Not

DESCRIBES SYSTEM USED

Mongols Not Trying To "Do" Buyer; Many Reasons For High Prices

To the race follower who merely "attends" the races, the following letter will be of unusual interest in that it contains information known to few except the owner or the Race Club member who is at the rails early each morning in the training season. (Sporting Editor.)

Sports Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir: It is to be regretted that your special correspondent from Peking of April 7 should have touched upon a subject concerning which he is absolutely ignorant and in detailing which his phrases absolutely contradict each other. He certainly never can have lived in an atmosphere Chinese nor yet Mongol but in one the hellons of which are highly charged with the germ of imagination, not perhaps on the part of your special correspondent but on that of his informant, who must be a past master in the art of leg pulling.

He shows an absolute ignorance of the way in which pony dealing is conducted as between the Mongol breeder and the Chinese dealer and again the Chinese dealer and the foreign buyer. Very few of the Chinese dealers, say not more than two, have the least smattering of the Mongol language and not one single Mongol breeder can speak a single word of Chinese. Dealings are conducted through third parties who do the interpreting.

If your Peking special correspondent or his highly imaginative informant ever visited the pony breeding areas or those centers where breeders and dealers meet to conduct their purchases or barterings he would realise the fierce rivalry between the various Chinese dealers which exists, to the damnation of any suggestion of a combine among them, even with the object of getting the best of their foreign patrons. They know a long way too much to attempt such combine even if it were suggested by such an expert way as the informant of your Peking special correspondent.

FOREIGN MONEY INVESTED

The Chinese dealers, before they go North to deal with the Mongol breeders, are either financed by certain foreign patrons or by the Shanghai Horse Bazaar. In the case of the financing of the dealer being done by the Horse Bazaar the dealer has to be guaranteed by a foreign patron, before the Horse Bazaar makes any advance to him.

It is natural then that the dealer should keep what he considers or is led to believe is his best pony or ponies for such patrons as enable him to conduct his business and insure his livelihood and if anyone in Peking and Tientsin, who may have the opportunity of being the first foreigners to see the mobs, desires to get behind the financing patron's backs to get the pick of the mob it is not surprising that the dealers should give them to understand that if they (the dealers) have got to risk the disfavor of their patrons, well these "Butinskies" must make it worth the dealers while and "cough up".

Apparently irate at this perfectly legitimate standpoint of the dealers a "Butinsky", with more imagination than common sense, works up a combine in that same imagination without realising the impossibility of fructifying what he imagines.

I am afraid your correspondent and his informant will have to get back into the swaddling clothes of horse dealing, if not actually into the cradle of the game and begin all over again to learn something before he can teach patrons of the local turf anything.

THE MONGOL'S WAYS

A little knowledge of the Mongol and his ways might set the mind of your Peking special correspondent in the right path towards an understanding of them and their pony dealings. The Mongol, naturally a nomad within limits (very strict limits) has no manufactures established on God's own plain and therefore money does not represent to him what it does to the peoples of an industrial and commercial community.

The poorest of the Mongols reckons his wealth, such as it is, in cattle, ponies, or sheep not in cash for which latter he had very little use. He does not waist money to build a house. He has no Cinemas calling for cash entrance. He has no Carlton or Parisien Cafes. His portable tent is his home, picture gallery, theater and house of plea-

AMERICAN TEAM MAKES RECORD IN SERIES CLOSED

Yankee Basketballers Win International Title, Scoring 300 Points

The International Basketball Series was brought to a close with a double-header on Saturday night. In the first game Canada came up from behind and defeated Portugal 12 to 5. The Portuguese put up a surprisingly scrappy contest and at the end of the first half were leading 5 to 1. Sequeira shot both of the loser's field baskets while the Duff brothers played best for the winners.

In the final game America won the undisputed championship by beating China, 45 to 25. The contest was hard-fought and aggressive though neither team played up to their best form. Gray and Glauque, with 19 and 14 points respectively, were the high-point men. By their score in this game the Americans brought their total for the four games of the series up to 302 points against 52 for their opponents, a ratio of almost six to one.

By virtue of a victory over St. John's University, the intercollegiate champions, and two over the Chinese Y team, this gives the team the practically clear title to the championship of this section of China. Glauque and Haskell will be lost for next season which will necessitate considerable strengthening if this year's record is to be kept up.

The summaries:

Baseball Club Membership Drive Nets Less Than 400; Relic Presented Dr. Downs

Campaign To Start With New Life Today After Committee's Indignation Meeting; Token To Retiring President Will Please Fans

Dr. Norman L. Downs will be a resident of our fair city for some time. He is retiring as president of the Baseball Club and yesterday the committee of the organisation attempted to show, on behalf of the members that Dr. Downs' work was appreciated.

So they gave him a cocktail shaker—a curiosity now in Doc's homeland—and six nice little glasses. The members of the club will be thoroughly in accord with the spirit of the presentation for the retiring president has given much time and effort to the club's activities for seven or eleven years. And if Doc ever does decide to go home, he can rank as a traveling museum, even though the shaker will probably atrophy and become likened to a vestigial structure—as an appendix or an American brewery.

The presentation and the announcement that a local American taipan had subscribed fifty dollars to the Club were the gloom dispellers of an otherwise very funereal meeting. The fifty-dollar donation may give an idea to heads of other American firms.

An announcement from Secretary Woodrow Willson caused the candles to be lighted and the soft music to start. "Less than 300 people have joined this Club," was Woodrow's coffin suggester.

The gloom gave way to indignation, first at the public in general, then at Americans in particular and finally on members of the membership drive committee, many of whom have not been heard from since they signed the chit book for the little pack of blue slips.

'AMERICANS ASLEEP'

Two of the points are well taken. The first is not. The Baseball Club is none of the general public's business in an International Community. But baseball is the business of Americans and it is discouraging (at least) to hear men crab that they will not join the club if they are called upon to render financial assistance later in the season if an extra series is announced.

Ten dollars will amount to less than five dollars in American currency. Exclusive of series the American who buys a season ticket will see about 30 baseball games—costing about 17 cents gold an afternoon. And there may be a few doubleheaders, there have been such things in the past.

Less than 250 Americans have joined the Club and 700 more have refused. Nothing more eloquent could be written.

Now relative to the membership campaign committee. Many of the committee have worked hard—and sent in their results. Others have worked just as faithfully but have not yet sent their names to Secretary Woodrow Willson. And then there are those who have not even tried to get members.

The campaign is to start with new life today. Additional members will be appointed to the drive committee and along toward the end of the week President McIntyre will probably announce a ladies auxiliary committee which will separate a lot of young men from ten dollars.

Wilhoit Improves After Operation

V. P. Wilhoit, known to baseball followers as 'Cy,' is resting comfortably at the Victoria Nursing Home after an operation performed last Saturday. Visitors were allowed to see him last evening and said that he was progressing nicely.

Doctors decided to operate on the ball player Friday after he had been bothered for some time by what he thought was stomach trouble. The surgeon's diagnosis showed an abscess on the stomach muscles.

PLAN STANDS FOR 10,000 AT GAMES IN MAY

Grandstand And Bleachers Will Be Built To Accommodate Big Crowds Expected

INVITE AMERICAN ARMY

Commanding General In Philippines Urged To Send U.S. Soldier Athletes Here

A grandstand to seat 5,000 people, bleachers to accommodate as many more and a special stand for athletes and officials will be built at Hongkew Park for the Far Eastern championship games to be held from May 30 to June 4. Contracts have been let for the building of the stands to C. Luthy and work will start as soon as possible.

The announcement was made yesterday afternoon at the China Contest Committee headquarters by Dr. John H. Gray, who is in charge of the big meet.

It should be understood that the 10,000 seats are for the track and field games. Additional stands will be provided for football and baseball while special and adequate arrangements will be made at the Hongkew Bath for those who desire to see the swimming events. All the sports are to be held so that the people are really spectators. The word is very often misused, incidentally.

The special stand for athletes will mean that there will be no group of competitors huddled around the jumping standards or the shot putting or the jumping pit. Athletes will enter a special gate to their own stand and when they are not competing they must stay in their quarters or if they desire to watch any events, the stand will be available.

U. S. ARMY INVITED

Dr. Gray yesterday sent an invitation to the Commanding General of the Philippine Department, United States Army, asking that an American soldier representation be sent here to compete in the open meet. Dr. Gray suggested that the men could be sent on the regular army transport which runs regularly befor Infants and Children.

CASTORIA

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LEPPA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."
A. F. FRELER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"For several years I recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD PARRISH, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children, in fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

sure and entertainment. So money means nothing to him. In his tent, his cattle, ponies, or sheep and his family he has all he wants.

His dealings are all done by barter and it is only because the Chinese pony dealer has more portable dollars to barter than the actual requirements of the Mongol, that the hard stuff becomes the medium of these pony transactions. The Mongol, of the simple life of the Mongolian plains, knows nothing of your war profiteers or your exchange gamblers or your share bulls and bears. That is not the life of him. He is entirely unsophisticated in these matters and his mental process would have to be entirely reconstituted before he could grasp the idea of a combine, even with astute Chinese pony dealers. Were it possible by any strain of imagination to conceive of a pony dealing combine between the Chinese dealer and the Mongol breeder it would defy all imagination to conceive this combine allowing any foreigner having part or parcel in it.

DEALERS NOT POOLING

The correspondent, under discussion reminds one of that late of youth "Mother there are a hundred cats in the garden." The mother knew the part played by imagination in that yarn and so do we, having our annual deals with the Chinese dealers, realise the part played by imagination in this special correspondent from Peking.

The dealers are not pooling their interests and are not likely to do so. Firstly it would not pay the knowing ones and secondly there is too much almost cut-throat rivalry between them all. Might as well imagine the various past or present Tuchuns of China pooling their interests or a Cathain heaven made through a combine of the Peking, Anfu and Canton political parties. The idea is enough to raise a laugh amongst all the Gods of Valhalla.

Your imaginative correspondent, did he but barter one pound of his imagination for a more two ounces of common sense, would realise that the use in price of the pony is caused by a few other things. Firstly the rise in value of stakes generally has created a keener competition among owners to win these stakes. Secondly there are a greater number of race courses in China today than there were prior to the Boxer era. Thirdly rapidly made fortune during the great war brought a new kind of racing stable owner into existence, whose easily earned war profits and gamble profits might be as readily expended upon ponies as upon the raising of value of the house property in the Water Tower area.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND

Fourthly (arising out of the first three), price is controled by the question of supply and demand. The source of the supply of racing ponies is confined to Mongolia so long as our racing rules confine racing to China ponies. That means a limitation as to supply. The increase of foreign influx to China predicates an increase of racing stables, in turn indicating increased demand and to those who look ahead prices must show a general upward tendency for ponies without any aspersions upon the dealers who are as legitimately entitled to obtain the best price procurable for their wares (which are ponies). This without any absurd idea of working a combine against those patrons who provide them with their means of living.

Regretting that I have trespassed on your space to this extent, I feel it is necessary in defense of a very deserving class who unfortunately cannot write to defend themselves and who are consequently at a great disadvantage unless backed by those who know and understand them.

This class of the community after many risks and hardships succeed in bring to the various racing centers those animals which prove such an enjoyment to most of us and they deserve the fullest appreciation and not these imag native diatribes accusing them of attempts to "do" the foreigner.

Yours, etc.
Charles R. Maguire.

Sims Sees Need Of Expanded U.S. Navy

U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Boston, Mass., April 8.—Admiral Sims in an address here said: "Mr. Inman tells us that we need a large navy to do our share of policing the seas of the world. Don't believe him. The Navy is for one purpose.—to fight."

"Plans for increasing or reducing our naval complement should be considered thoroughly," Admiral Sims went on. "Japan is increasing her naval strength on a large scale. It is a question of policy which includes the consideration of how we are going to maintain the Open Door in China, the Monroe Doctrine, and Jurisdiction over or freedom of the Philippines."

Admiral Sims uttered a warning against underestimating aeroplanes and submarines. A naval fleet, he said, was not safe unless it commanded the air above it.

Impressive Service For Late Neville Craig

Masonic Ceremony Attended By Large Number Of Friends

Funeral services for the late Mr. Neville Craig, Deputy Marshal of the United States Court, were held Sunday afternoon in the Bubbling Well Chapel, which was filled with friends and Brothers of the late official. Among those attending were Judge C. S. Lobingier, Consul-General Cunningham, United States Commissioner F. J. Schuhl, Special District Attorney H. D. Rodger and other members of the Court, Consulate and Post Office staffs.

The impressive Scottish Rite ceremony was performed by the officials of the Rose Croix body, assisted by a number of the members, who encircled the flag draped coffin, and a firing squad kindly sent by the U. S. Navy authorities, fired a salute outside the Chapel, while a Navy bugler blew taps.

The coffin was banked and flanked by a great heap of floral offerings, sent by Judge C. S. Lobingier, the United States Court for China, staff of THE CHINA PRESS, staff of the U. S. Consulate, Captain W. E. Eisler, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Lurton, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Bernard, Mrs. W. H. Brun, Worshipful Master, Officers and members of the Ancient Landmark Lodge, Messrs. F. Chicago, April 8.—A mail sack which was found by the police today is said to be a registered pouch stolen by five bandits from a mail truck last night. The sack contained wrappers for money which the police believes shows that between $500,000 and $750,000 was stolen.

Crowds watched the robbery, believing it be to be a "movie" rehearsal, while the railway and postal employees obligingly held up their hands.

Austrian Is Charged With Passport Theft

Stephen Kordink, an Austrian, appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday charged with stealing a Czecho-Slovak passport from F. Sobord. The complainant, who has been living at the Sailors' Home on Broadway, stated that on Kordink's request he gave over the passport for safe keeping. On asking for its return he was told that a Chinese had taken it and advised not to worry as it should be an easy matter to secure another. The accused was ordered remanded in custody pending receipt of a letter from the Czecho-Slovak Consul giving particulars regarding the passport.

FIREMAN IMPRISONED

A Chinese fireman was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment yesterday for theft of six rolls of cloth from the scene of the recent godown fire on North Soochow Road. Chief Officer Pett appeared to press the charge and asked that a severe penalty be imposed as the man had occupied a position of trust. A coolie who helped the accused to carry the goods away was sentenced to two weeks.

NAVAL BALLOON FOUND

New York, April 9.—The naval balloon which has been missing since it left Pensacola, Florida, on March 22, has been picked up by a fishing-boat, but there is no trace of its five occupants.

Banvard's'

A full house heard the latest musical offering of the Banvard company at the Olympic last night. It was entitled "Harem Belles," and almost told a story of life in Cairo. The situations came about, strange to say, through a mixup of engagements, arranged by managing parents, between the girls of the harem and a tourist Englishman.

Leonard Neville furnished most of the comedy in so far as concerned the plot of the piece. He was cast as the butler of the English tourist, who was not quite certain as to which of the Harem Belles he was engaged to, and who, clothed as an old woman, entered the Harem, and gathered the needed information. The situations, naturally were good, as far as comedy possibilities were concerned.

During the piece several real musical hits were put over, notably, "If I ever thought I'd marry You," by Viola Williams and Douglas MacLaren; "Love, Here is My Heart" by Mr. MacLaren and chorus, and "My Cairo Maid," by Ian MacLean. A feature was the "Moth and Flame" dance by Adrian D. Ross, and Winnie Goodwin, the versatile pair of the company.

The piece continues tonight.

BIG FIGHT ARRANGED

(Reuter's Service)

New York, April 9.—Mr. Tex Rickard at last announces that the Dempsey-Carpentier match will be held in the State of New Jersey on July 2.

THINGS EVERY MOTHER NEEDS TO KNOW

Little ones could easily be saved many of the aches and ills which come in infancy, if mothers would remember three important things:—First, teach your baby regular habits. Secondly, see that his feeding utensils are clean and that he has plenty of fresh air out of doors. Thirdly, keep Baby's Own Tablets in the house ready for immediate use in case baby gets constipated, feverish, or is troubled with indigestion, colic, diarrhoea, croup or teething pains.

Mrs. James Levere, of Spencerville, Ontario, Canada, says:— "I believe Baby's Own Tablets saved my baby's life, and I would not be without them."

Mrs. A. H. Waite, of 1207 Fremont Avenue, North Minneapolis, U. S. A., writes:— "My last baby was sickly from birth and the benefit that Baby's Own Tablets have afforded is simply wonderful. They do all that is claimed for them, and more."

Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian specific for infants and children, are obtainable from all chemists, also post free at 60 cents the vial, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

SOLE AGENTS FOR

THE SILENT KEYLESS CLOCK

British Design—British Manufacture

This clock is not a passing novelty, but a definite advance in clock making.

14 POINTS AND 4 TO-SPARE.

Special Advantages of the Silent Keyless Clock.

1. Extreme simplicity. 2. Reliability. 3. It is practically noiseless. 4. It automatically adjusts itself to irregularities of shelf or mantelpiece. 5. It beats true seconds. 6. It combines the efficiency of a "Grandfather" pendulum with a 4" case. 7. Variations due to atmospheric changes are reduced to a minimum because the centre of gravity is within an eighth of an inch of the centre of motion. 8. The pivots of the compound pendulum, rolling in their curved recess, cause the pendulum to describe a cycloidal arc. 9. It cannot get out of beat. 10. There are no keys to lose. 11. There are no springs to break. 12. The design of the escapement reduces friction to the minimum. 13. The clock itself is its own driving power. 14. It shows at a glance when it needs winding. 15. The driving force is constant. 16. The design lends itself to new varieties of artistic treatment. 17. It requires no oil. 18. An extraordinary reduction of strain on working parts, giving long life.

ELECTRICAL APPARATUS FOR EVERY PURPOSE

The Might of the Motor

Powerfully the motor of the sugar-mill turns the rolls that crush the cane.

Humming busily the motor of the electric fan on the library table speeds the whirling blades.

Large the one and small the other, but both are propelled by the greatest force known to industry—the might of the motor.

No question, then is more important than "What make is the motor?" That care of construction which is so vital enters into each integral part—the insulation, the assembly the quality of every piece down to the minutest detail.

If the motor you buy bears the name WESTINGHOUSE, you will know that it was designed and built by an organisation famous for its achievements in the electrical field.

It is more than a motor. It is a power plant specially constructed to accomplish the tasks to which you set it.

ATTORNEY ROSS, MANILA LAWYER, JOINS LOCAL BAR

Former Judge In Philippines Is Admitted To Practice In U. S. Court

Judge James Ross, formerly of Manila, was admitted to practice in the United States Court for China yesterday upon motion of Mr. S. Fessenden, seconded by Mr. Paul M. Linebarger. Judge Charles S. Lobingier, in welcoming the applicant, said that he had known Judge Ross personally for many years and that their relations had always been pleasant.

Judge Ross made an appropriate response.

Judge Ross, who was born in Illinois, was for many years a resident of Tacoma, Washington. He went to the Philippines in 1899 as captain of the 45th Infantry. In 1901 he left the army and became the first civil governor of Ambos Camarines under Taft's administration in the Philippines.

In 1903, he was appointed assistant attorney-general of the Philippines by Taft and two years later, became Judge of the Court of the First Instance, in which capacity he served until 1910. Then he resigned to enter law practice in Manila, where he is now the head of the firm of Ross and Lawrence.

He is a member of the bar in the States of California and Washington, the Philippine Islands and the Supreme Court of the United States.

Second Plant Is Built For Pootung Electric Company

The Pootung Electric Supply Company has nearly completed installing its second plant, which will be tested and put into operation immediately. The main line, from Tung Ka Doo Northward to Yang King Village, covers a distance of about eight miles.

The electricity supply has been available all night long since April 1 and arrangements for supply of day time current for motors, fans, etc. are well under way.

The Butterfield and Swire's Pootung and Watung Wharves have stopped their own generating plant and are using the company's public supply. Negotiations for installations or connections are being carried on with many other large factories and wharves in Pootung. The demand is steadily increasing and the business gives every prospect of profit and success.

At the company's recent shareholders general meeting, Mr. S. H. Dong, general manager moved a bill to increase the capital by $100,000 for extension purposes, which was duly passed by the shareholders.

Japs To Replace Troops With Police

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, April 9.—Information at the disposal of the Chinese Government to the effect that the evacuation of the Japanese expeditionary forces from the Hungchun and Henchi districts has not yet commenced inspired Dr. W. W. Yen, Chinese Minister for Foreign Affairs, to take this point up with the Japanese Minister at the last weekly reception to diplomats at the Foreign Office. Replying to Dr. Yen's inquiries as to whether or not the Japanese are actually withdrawing their troops from Hungchun and Yenchi, Mr. Obata stated that the Japanese commanders in these districts have received their orders from Tokio to withdraw and to return to their original headquarters. They have not, however, commenced their evacuation as yet.

A note from the Japanese Legation to the Minister for Foreign Affairs is now being drafted in the above sense and will be transmitted to Dr. Yen within the week.

Nothing is known at the Japanese Legation regarding the press report from Tokio to the effect that the evacuating Japanese troops will be replaced at Hungchun and Yenchi by a specially trained police force.

Japs May Send New Division To Korea

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, April 9.—According to official reports received here from Tokio, there is considerable talk in the Japanese capital about sending an additional division of infantry to Korea. It is not, however, believed that the extra division will be sent unless Japan decides to withdraw entirely from Vladivostok, in which case a division of the Japanese expeditionary force in Siberia is likely to proceed to Korea to take up permanent quarters.

Ungern And Living BuddhaClash, Report

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, April 9.—Seriousness of the situation at Pangkiang is increasing daily and General Chow Feng has made an urgent appeal for reinforcements. While the government is getting ample information from its agents further north, some of whom have gone behind the enemy lines little news has been available showing the true conditions at Pangkiang.

Unofficial reports that parts of the first and thirtieth divisions of Fengtien troops have arrived there, are discounted by government officials. They say it would have been practically impossible for them to have reached the city so early.

The brightest spot in the whole Mongolian situation, if the report is confirmed, is that Ungern and the Living Budcha have had a serious disagreement. This report was received by a news agency and says that Vngern attempted to override the Living Buddha, whereat the latter refused to provide finances for the Ungern troops. This has caused violent dissension among the Russian troops according to the report.

Retrenchment Plan Hits Political Snag

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, April 9.—Political snags are somewhat impeding the progress of the retrenchment program, it was announced yesterday and the second meeting of the special retrenchment committe resulted in no further definite action.

One problem appears to be the old finance investigation committee made up principally of former parliament members. The department was formed as a special means of giving these men employment. While it is admitted that the investigations such as have been made have been of little real help and that the department could be abolished without shifting burdens to other departments, the government feels it would be unwise politically to dismiss the employees at this time. It is feared the dismissal would tend to complicate the coming Parliamentary elections.

No uniform plan of demobilisation can be carried out as a retrenchment measure, the government holds because conditions vary in the several provinces. Some border districts need more troops than there in central parts of the republic and some of the interior provinces have more military needs than others. The disbandment of troops will be made in accordance with the prevailing conditions in each provnce.

Tuchuns Alliance Demands Showdown

Wang Chaun-yuan, head of the Yangtsze Tuchuns' Alliance, has formally addressed a demand to the Peking Government for the recall of Chang Hsun, the monarchist, recently appointed director of forestry in Jehol. The message stated that unless the administration does this, it is useless for it to issue Presidential Mandates denying a monarchical movement and warning the rumor mongers with severe punishment.

Chang Tso-lin, the Fengtien Tuchun, however, defies the demand and has assisted Chang Hsun to assume his new duties. As usual, Premier Chin is helpless in the controversy.

Hays Asks Postal Men To Co-Operate To Improve Service

A plea for co-operation, with the chief idea of humanising the work of the postal service, issued by United States Postmaster General Will H. Hays, a few days after accepting the appointment of President Harding, has been received by United States Postal Agent E. H. Everett.

The statement follows:

"The Postal Establishment is not an institution for profit or politics, it is an institution for service, and it is the President's purpose that every effort shall be made to improve that service.

"Every effort shall be exercised to humanise the industry. Labor is not a commodity. That idea was abandoned 1921 years ago Easter. There are 300,000 employes. They have the brain and they have the hand to do the job well; and they shall have the heart to do it well. We purpose to approach this matter so that they shall be partners with us in this business. It is a great human institution touching every individual in the country. It is a great business institution serving every individual in the country. I know that with 300,000 men and women pledged to serve all the people and honestly discharging that duty, fairly treated and properly appreciated, all partners with us here in this great enterprise we can do the job it's going to be done."

FRENCH TRAMWAY DISCUSSION OPENS LATER IN WEEK

Emissary Of Paris Office Arrives And Council Holds Meeting

Mr. L. Bridou, managing director of the Messageries Maritimes and representative of the head office of the French tramways, water and electric light company, arrived in Shanghai yesterday by the French Mail steamer Amazone and preparations were made during the day by the French Council for a conference in regard to the public utilities controversy.

The Council at a meeting held yesterday afternoon discussed the problems to be taken up and decided to ask for a conference with the tramways representative at the end of the week. The Council's ultimatum to the company—in which it was threatened to take over the services—expired yesterday, but it was felt in view of the fact that Mr. Bridou only arrived in Shanghai yesterday noon, some time should be given him to look over the local situation.

Li Chi-ying Denies Southern Forces Are Near Defeat

While confirming the aspirations of the Shensi Tuchun, Chen Shu-fang, in forming a strong alliance with the Kansu leaders and Anfu remnants in Northwest China, Li Chi-ying, former Shensi representative on the Southern peace delegation to Shanghai, yesterday denied certain sections of the report which appeared in THE CHINA PRESS last Saturday made by its Kuyuan, Kansu, correspondent.

The important feature of Mr. Li's denial is that the Southern forces are holding their own everywhere and that Chen Shu-fang has been routed.

The inference that Fenghsiang, located within the impregnable walls, which is now occupied by General Kuo Chien, may fall to the hands of the Shensi tuchun on account of a pending strife between Kuo's own men, according to Mr. Li, is wrong, because, he says, there is no indication of any split in the camp of the Constitutionalists.

Again, the proposed escape of the Kuomingtang leader, Mr. Yu Yu-jen, to Shanghai, as reported by the correspondent was due to unauthorised information, Mr. Li maintains. He asserted that Yu left Sanyuan, his headquarters, early this year for Yaohsien on a business trip, but has now returned to his headquarter.

Both in the Eastern and Western directions, the Constitutionalists are gaining on Chen Shu-fang's forces according to Mr. Li. In the east at Beisui, Commander Kao has routed Chen's brigade-commander Chen, capturing large quantities of ammunition and prisoners. In the west, in Sansui and Chen Hua, the Regimental Commander, Liu, has completely defeated the protege of Chen, Chang Fei-sung, capturing two big guns, 12 cases of munition and are now severely bombarding Chienhsien, a Chen stronghold.

In the face of these victories, Mr. Li stated that there is no cause for General Yu Yu-jen to flee to Shanghai.

Memorial Service For Youthful Suicide

A memorial service for the late Mr. N. Steppani, young Russian journalist who committed suicide by shooting himself recently, was held Saturday by the Shanghai Esperanto School, which was founded by the deceased.

Western, Chinese and Korean friends of Mr. Steppani and members of the school attended the meeting and there were several speeches in Esperanto. A short sketch of the life of the deceased and a tribute to his endeavors in the interests of the international language was given by Mr. Wong Kuh-sui and the members of the school were urged to carry on the work which he had inaugurated here.

Powers Plan Board To Run C.E. Railway

(China Press Correspondence)

Washington, March 5 (by mail). — The British, French, Japanese and American governments have commenced discussions with a view to the creation of an international administration for the Chinese Eastern Railway, this administration to be in the nature of a trust, rather than of a receivership, until Russia recovers and is once more recognised by the Powers.

It is not stated which of the four Powers proposed the plan for international administration of the Chinese Eastern Railway, but all of them are interested in it, either on economic grounds or because they have advanced money to the railway and hold its bonds. It is understood here that the internationalisation plan would have the effect of neutralising the Chinese Eastern Railway pending the time when Russia can once more undertake the control and operation of the line.

ANNUAL MEETING

The 31st annual general meeting of Messrs. Major Brothers, Ltd., was held yesterday at the offices of Messrs. A. R. Burkill and Sons, secretaries.

Mr. E. C. Pearce presided and was supported by Messrs. G. H. Purcell (director), J. V. C. Davis (secretary), A. W. and C. R. Burkill, and S. R. Owen, shareholders, representing 1,091 shares.

The notice convening the meeting and auditors report having been read, the chairman said:

"The report and accounts having been in your hands for some time, I will, with your approval, take them as read.

"The result of the year's working is, I am glad to say, more satisfactory, although unfortunately owing to the financial condition of the company it is impossible for the directors to recommend any dividend.

"Demand for our products shows an increase over last year, and our turnover in sulphuric acid is very satisfactory, considering the difficulties that have had to be contended with in all export orders. It is only within the last month or so that we have been able to start manufacturing nitric and hydrochloric acids, and I think that we can look forward, during the current year, to a satisfactory demand for these products.

"The cost of production again shows a slight increase over 1919, our wages account having risen considerably as we had to increase rates of pay in sympathy with all other manufacturing enterprises.

"I stated, at the last annual meeting that there was a certain portion of our plant that had to be renewed, owing to the delay that has taken place in filling our orders for this new plant, this work was not completed before the end of our financial year, and you will see in our balance sheet that the total expenditure to date on plant in course of erection is Tls. 18,717.39, this sum will be a little more before the plant is completely erected.

"As regards the accounts themselves, there is very little for me to comment on, we have decided to transfer Tls. 10,000 from profit and loss account to depreciation fund, bringing this up to Tls. 30,000 and carry forward the balance of Tls. 7,741.76.

"As is usual the works have been kept in good order and the money expended has been debited to working account.

"Before putting the report and accounts to the meeting, I shall be happy to answer any questions the shareholders may have to ask.

"There being no questions, the following resolutions were carried nem. con.:—

That the report and accounts as presented be passed. Proposed by Mr. E. C. Pearce, seconded by Mr. G. H. Purcell.

That Mr. G. H. Purcell be re-elected a director of the company. Proposed by Mr. E. C. Pearce, seconded by Mr. A. W. Burkill.

That Messrs. G. H. and N. Thomson be re-elected auditors for the ensuing year. Proposed by Mr. J. V. C. Davies, seconded by Mr. S. R. Owen.

Obituary

MR. RODERIC C. PENFIELD

Mr. Roderic C. Penfield, proprietor and editor of the World Salesman, a trade publication of Yokohama, died suddenly at his home at 51 Main street there on April 2. Death was caused by cerebral hemorrhage. Early in the afternoon he was walking in the streets at Yokohama. Later he returned home, where he died about 4 o'clock. Mrs. Penfield, who came to Japan from New York a few months ago, was with him at the time.

Mr. Penfield first came to the Far East as general manager of the Japan Advertiser, in August of 1918. He made a trip to China and the Philippines in the interests of the Advertiser and the Trans-Pacific and upon his return to Yokohama, purchased the World Salesman.

Mr. Penfield was formerly editor of Harper's Weekly and was a member of the repertorial or editorial staffs of various publications in the Eastern United States.

Funeral services were held at the Union Church, Yokohama on April third.

Wedding

A wedding ceremony combining features of old Chinese custom with the ritual of the modern West, was performed Saturday afternoon, at the Great Eastern Hotel, at which Mr. Henry Z. N. Lee, a returned student, was united to Miss W. Y. Koo, a graduate of the Ming Lih Girls' school. The Rev. P. N. Tsu, Rector of the Church of Our Savior, assisted by the bride's grandfather, officiated. The ceremony known as the "enlightened marriage ceremony" was performed.

The bride, dressed in embroidered pink silk, with filmy white veil, ablaze with pearls and other jewels, was attended by the Misses Liang. Miss Yeh was maid of honor and two nieces of the groom served as flower girls.

A banquet followed the ceremony at which 120 guests had places. Several foreign friends of the young couple were present, and many prominent Chinese were among the guests.

The honeymoon will be spent in Hangchow, after which Mr. Lee will resume his post in the engineering department of Messrs Babcock and Wilcox Company, in Shanghai.

WEATHER

Rough weather at sea between China, Corea and Japan. Very variable breezes with local calms in the Formosa straits. Overcast weather probably improving.

The Philippine Legislature Gets Twisted

WHAT would become of the Philippine Islands if the United States were to set them free and give them the complete independence they claim they want? This is a question we cannot answer at the moment with certitude, but if we are to base a judgment on a law just passed by the Philippine Legislature, that judgment would be that all foreign capital and all foreign merchants would be driven from the islands and that the inhabitants of them would revert to the primitive state in which Magellan found them in 1521.

The alternative to that would be seizure and subjection at the hands of the Japanese with no one lifting a hand to protect them, for by that time they would have driven away all their friends.

The special act of legislation to which we refer has come to be known as the Book-keeping Law. This was passed in the last hour of the last session of the legislature. Governor General Harrison had approved the law before it was introduced, without apparently understanding the harmfulness of its provisions, and he signed it as soon as it was presented to him.

The act under discussion makes it illegal for all persons, companies, firms or corporations engaged in business in the islands to keep their books of account in a language other than English, Spanish or a native dialect, and provides heavy penalties for violation thereof.

This act is aimed directly at the Chinese merchants of whom there are about 15,000 scattered throughout the islands. If it is not killed at Washington, it will put them out of business. Most of these Chinese merchants speak neither English nor the native dialects. They would be forced to hire native bookkeepers and also translators, 15,000 of each and they would have to pay each one of them at least 200 pesos per month—a total of 72,000,000 pesos per year. Nine out of ten of the Chinese merchants do business in a small way and with limited capital. Four hundred pesos per month added to their expenses would smother them out. Even with translators they would be unable to read and understand their own books. They wouldn't know what was being done to them.

But the big joker in the act lies in the fact that neither bookkeepers nor the translators are available. They do not exist. One big Chinese concern that we know of pays its Filipino bookkeeper pesos 250 per month and pays a San Francisco firm of accountants 600 pesos per month to go over its accounts and verify them. One firm had to go six months without a bookkeeper for the simple reason that not even one good one was to be had.

It is not to be wondered at therefore that every prominent foreign firm in the Islands is protesting to Washington against this act and in defense of the Chinese merchants. The petition has been signed, among others, by the following:

Pacific Commercial Company,
Standard Oil Company of New York,
William H. Anderson and Co.,
Insular Lumber Co.,
Admiral Line,
Hashim Commercial and Trading Co.,
Struthers and Dixon, Inc.,
Squires and Bingham Co.,

The petition declares that the law would drive the Chinese out of business, would vitally affect the economic situation in the islands, would react in an important way upon all other merchants and business of every kind, that it is contrary to the fundamental ideas of justice and fair play, that it is wholly unnecessary and that such a law has never been heard of in any other country.

These foreign merchants also declare that "The Chinese people have contributed no small part to the economic development of the Philippine Islands and in our dealings with them we have found them to be honest, reliable and public spirited."

Copies of the petition are being sent to the Philippines Legislature, to the Governor General, to the Congress of the United States and to the President, but it is earnestly to be hoped that the legislature itself will undo the mischief before Washington gets a chance at it, for legislation such as this, indicates that the Filipino people are not yet ripe for independence and serves but to postpone the gaining of that blessing to some date far in the nebulous future.

GENERAL MUNICIPAL RATE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—Is it possible that the Municipal Council at the last moment, proposes to increase the Municipal rate from 14 percent to 16 percent and the land tax at 8/10th of 1 percent instead of 7/10th of 1 percent as per Municipal Notification No. 2839?

If all the ratepayers have read the Municipal Budget I feel confident they will turn up on Thursday April 14, and defend their interests. Unfortunately the average ratepayer takes the attitude of "Oh what is my vote against all others, what is the use of protesting against new taxes?"

If all the ratepayers would read through the Municipal Budget Part III, take note of the new taxes proposed, they would perhaps have their eyes opened.

It is to be hoped that all ratepayers will attend the meeting. I am, etc.

RATEPAYER.

U.S. Trade With Germany

American exports to Germany in 1920 amounted to $311,437,000, a higher valuation than for any previous year except 1912 and 1913, the National Bank of Commerce in New York shows in the March issue of its magazine, Commerce Monthly.

"Doubtless the decrease in the quantity of goods exported to Germany since prewar years was much greater than the valuations indicate," the bank points out. "Trade with Germany has nevertheless recovered to a remarkable degree. The United Kingdom came first, with Canada, France, Cuba, Japan and Italy, in the order named."

The three principal commodities exported were cotton, lard and wheat, of which cotton comprised more than one-third the total value of shipments to Germany.

IT ALL DEPENDS

Some claim they've hunted all around, and happiness cannot be found, while others say there's much to spare and seem to find it everywhere.

These two opinions, I expect, may both be held to be correct, for folk derive from this world's store about what they are looking for.

The happiness this life may hold does not depend on fame or gold, although it is the sad omission of members of the Wage Commission.

Who would be truly happy here may open up the door to cheer; we hold ourselves the key—to wit: our world is as we fashion it.

For happiness this whole life through depends upon our point of view, if I were with the S.M.C. —maskee the rates—I would be free.

I'd claim increases oft with sighs, the taxes then would rise and rise, and when I really was content, the taxes would be cent percent.

FATE. FATE. FATE???

The brief and checkered career of the giant airship R.34, the first and only dirigible to cross the Atlantic, so far, and which recently became a total wreck during a gale, was so highly charged with peculiar coincidences that even those who are not superstitious may find in them some omens of her unkind fate.

In the first place R.34 was a twin sister of R.33. The former was built on the Clyde, the latter on the Tyne. Some years ago the two fastest ocean-going steamers, the Lusitania and the Mauretania, were built in the same two centers. In both cases the Tyne ship survives but the Clyde productions, on the contrary, have been destroyed. The Lusitania was sunk, as we all know, during the war, and her great Clyde sister of the air, R.34, has now been wrecked.

The times occupied by the ill-fated Lusitania and R.34 in their best runs across the Atlantic are almost identical. The record of the Lusitania was four days, twelves hours and fourteen minutes, and the R.34 four days, twelve hours and twelve minutes.

The R.34 made her pioneer Atlantic trip on the centenary of the first crossing by steamship—the Savannah—from New York, in June, 1819. The Savannah made only one trip; the R.34 her centennial successor in the air, one only, also.

It is to be observed, further, that the periods occupied by R.34 in her voyages westward and homeward contain either her multiples or her own figures—34.

The outward passage occupied four days, twelve (3x4) hours, twelve (3x4) minutes; the duration of the homeward run was three days, three hours, three minutes.

DISCONTENT

If Oscar Wilde is right that "Discontent is the first step in the progress of a man or a nation" then old England and the miners are making very rapid progress.

* * *

Meredith in his delightful book "Diana of the Crossways" writes "'Tis Ireland gives England her soldiers, her generals too." The novelist evidently forgot to complete the sentence. What he really meant was that it was Ireland that gave England plenty of work wherewith to keep busy her soldiers, and it was Ireland that gave England's generals something to think about.

ABSENT

We may not see the banks of primrose bloom,
And shy, frail beauty of the woodland flowers,
When springtime weaves her patterns on her loom,
And April decks her bowers.

Now meadows all agleam with cowslip gold,
And hedges crammed with silent bells of blue,
And emerald verdure of the fragrant wold,
When May sweeps into view.

Only at even when night comes drifting down,
And quick dusk darkens on the far off hills,
Unbidden fancies garb the hillsides brown
With waving daffodils.

'If I Were Harding' By Maximilian Harden

'I Would Say: A World In Which People Cry For Clothes While Tailors Try To Sell Their Cloth Is A Mad-House. Artificial Remedies Will Not Avail. New Emergency Law Is Needed'

BY MAXIMILIAN HARDEN
(Publisher of Zukunft, and Leading European Progressive)

By no ocean's shore is the law of the transforming power of time bounded, a law that is evident even to the simplest mind in the changing desires of youth, manhood and old age. Thus it is that every calculaion must be wrong if it has not taken cognisance of this eternal change, this everlasting replowing of the earth.

With twenty-four persons living upon every square kilometer of its civilised lands (even in the uncivilised) the earth is no longer thinly populated and the densely settled or overcrowded countries cannot find their sustance as easily as they did formerly.

In our United States, too, the economic organisation has changed. The old days, antedating the last President from Ohio, when our country exported raw materials and imported manufactures, are past and gone. We, too, have begun to feel, as Europe has felt before us, the impetuous crowding of the masses into and toward the cities.

Our farm lands in consequence are suffering from a lack of workers, who are being attracted by the opportunities for education, by the reading rooms, museums, theaters, concerts, moving pictures, musical shows, shops and technical marvels of our cities. This exodus from the farm should call for most serious consideration in a country in which the decrease in immigration since 1914 and the low birth rate (without a prohibitory law in this direction) have resulted in a shortage of four million workers under normal conditions.

NEW ECONOMIC CONDITIONS

Thus our supply of agricultural products is no longer sufficient for our needs. We are obliged to supplement them by purchase, and we need large markets elsewhere for the disposal of finished manufactures which we cannot sell at home. (May I here remark in passing that the disregard of this economic transformation gave a wrong direction to our laudable pacifism and seriously interfered with the proceedings in Paris, where, as every fair-minded man should remember, the complete collapse of Germany and her near-revolution took out of our hands our strongest trump cards, namely the indispensability of our assistance and the specter of a militaristic German monarchy).

In the East beyond the Pacific there is industrial Japan with similar necessities in regard to her imports and exports. The status of both is not unlike that of Great Britain.

Only we three have powerful fleets and are, therefore able to engage in a world conflict. Must we, in order that we may capture the markets we require, begin this struggle and so seriously damage the maritime capitalistic equipment of our competitor that within no conceivable period of time will he be able to restore it?

Since the experiment carried out on a small scale in Europe from 1890 until 1918 has demonstrated that such methods prove to be bad business even for the victorious competitor, I am happy to be able after thorough consideration of the question to answer it in the negative.

We need no war. Like the duel, war can only be justified where two individuals or nations find it impossible to breath the atmosphere of one and the same world at the same time. We need no powerful war machine; whether it be a Moloch or a Leviathan, such a machine after a time invariably changes from a political instrument and becomes an end in itself, and therefore a national peril. Nor do we require markets that are indispensable to others.

WHAT AMERICA NEEDS

One advantage which our military and industrial achievement of 1917 and 1918 gained for us and which can never be minimised is the fact that we shall never again either in London or Tokio be considered too incapable or too indolent to make war and quickly build up a formidable war machine.

What we do need, however, is complete freedom of action on our continent, a guarantee that we shall not be inundated by colored races, a social organisation on a par with our technical organisation, a regulation of commerce protected by a world police and so ordered that no people shall be robbed of what is indispensable to it, but on the contrary that access to those necessities shall be constantly maintained, thus putting an end to the international commercial bedlam of today.

Furthermore, we need something which we have hitherto lacked just as sorely in the free and easy comfort of our rapidly accumulated wealth—namely an orderly and publicly debated budget, and a real foreign, international policy.

How both of these things may be prepared and securd by means of a strong Cabinet chosen from among the best minds of all parties and working constantly in close co-operation with the Congress, and whether in view of the enormous increase of administrative tasks and governmental duties our venerable Constitution may not have to be modernised in many points; whether a division of responsibility, which must not degenerate into empty formality, will not force itself upon us; for the dissuccion of these problems of tomorrow, you, my fellow citizens, may yourselves appoint the date.

It will not require any eloquent asservation of mine to assure you that a man who, even in the warm radiance of national confidence does not think himself better than any other happy, hearty American with common sense, a zest for work and confidence in his country, will not aim to make himself either openly or secretly an autocrat.

He does not flatter himself, as did England's pre-revolutionary kings, that he treasures within the shrine of his heart all the precious possessions of human wisdom; and if, as you may be aware, he is an admirer of the great Napoleon, that does not blind him to the fact that of the achievement of that unique combination of genius and ambition little is now left except that creative idea which drew the constructive deductions from the sum total of life and experience of an entire epoch everywhere—in strategy as well as in the civil code, in economics as well as in statecraft.

Of all conquerors, the idea is the only one that can for long resist the corroding tooth of time. The very realms which Napoleon had conquered with the sword were lost to him and destroyed through his thirst for power, his demonical ambition, which from the banks of the Tagus, the Tiber, the Scheldt, the Rhine and the Ganges sought to rule the whole earth as the heritage of his genius. But the idea of the son of the Revolution who created a new order, of the engineering genius who founded empires upon the results of new technic, that idea remains imperishable.

Is there anything that we can learn from him? Yes: for once again after an era of terrible wars and cataclysms of state a new judicial and economic order must be created. Now, because all the former experience of history, even that which is not remote from us in time and place, has in large part become worthless for practical politics (a thing we are only too apt to forget) since practical politics has now to reckon with an absolutely new and hitherto unsuspected element of power, namely, with the many, many millions of thinking workingmen, educated to independence of will and centralised by our great industries.

In every country they now constitute a nation within a nation, as Disraeli-Beaconsfield first pointed out in his novel "Sybil, or the Two Nations," and they feel themselves more closely bound to their comrades in other lands than to their own countryman, to whom they are only so many "hands," and the means of increasing his surplus profits.

In the great drama of world events the chief roles are no longer being played by kings and generals, but by the masses, whose leaders but yesterday were relegated to a minor place in the chorus, from which at best they were able to make ineffectual comment upon the action. And this new drama is being constructed and enacted according to its own new rules of life.

'If I Were Harding'

'MAD ORGIE OF CAPITALISM'

We cannot successfully contradict the cry of its most vociferous protagonists that the operations of capitalism have turned into a mad orgie. For fifty long months, fifty, sixty or even more millions of people did nothing but destroy values and construct instruments for the destruction of values; for that length of time all of the great and most of the small nations "financed" the war by methous which brazenly defied every economic law.

They enormously overpaid both labor and implements, and because their paper currency kept piling up in unheard-of quantities they tried to make themselves believe that they were really very rich.

And now what do we see? Vast masses of people are crying out for food, for shelter, furniture, clothing, underwear, shoes. Vast quantities of foodstuffs, raw materials, and manufactures are offered for sale; manufacturers and dealers alike are keen to dispose of them. But it is impossible to link up supply and demand, to establish contact between production and consumption; between them "the waters are too deep."

"If this state of affairs continue our farmers will have to burn their cotton and their wheat, the Brazilians their coffee, the Englishmen 40 percent of their wool, and the Hollanders will have to close their cheese-factories and give up their herring fisheries.

These are the pleasures that await the countries whose monetary values have risen to mountain heights; so high, in fact, that the proletariat peoples of Europe—the Czechs, Poles, Jugo-Slavs, Austrians, Rumanians, Hungarians and Bulgarians cannot hope to reach their altitudes.

These must be content to remain in the valley, far below the markets of the dollar, gulden, pound sterling or Swiss franc; in the market whose standard is the German mark, although even that market is practically closed to our goods and to those of other trans-oceanic States by reason of the rate of exchange and the high cost of shipment and freight.

'WORLD IS A MADHOUSE'

A world in which the ragged population cries for clothing at the same time that the tailors are crying out for a chance to sell their piles of cloth, and yet where, by reason of the difference in the worth of their currency, the two distressed parties cannot possibly do business with each other, is such a world as this not in fact a madhouse?

And we shall not make of it an abode of pure reason by piling still higher mountains of paper money on top of the 3,500 millions we have issued in Europe since 1919, nor yet by resuscitating the War Finance Corporation in order to have it extend a loan to Europe (guaranteed, in effect, by the United States) for the purpose of expanding markets and improving prices.

A loan of this kind would be rational only if we were in a position to call upon the European States for great quantities of manufactures as a means of liquidating the loan within a reasonable time, although even then I should doubt their ability to do so.

But our importing from Europe on such an enormous scale would put us economically into a worse plight still, and would drive us straight to ruin.

Artificial remedies will not avail; no sick man has ever been restored to health by the use of narcotics or by disguising his symptoms.

If, in order to help us over our commercial crisis, we put Germany deeply in our debt, she will be so much the less able to pay the inevitable reparations to the victors; and the injured parties will turn their wrath against us and will charge us with having allowed our greed of gold to choke the idealism that drove us into the war.

Now, if the remedy which gave rise to such a charge promised an infallible cure, we might be able to endure the slander. But that is out of the question.

The world needs an international emergency law that will fulfil the double duty of alleviating in some measure the want of destitute human beings and of emptying the now overcrowded storehouses of raw materials and finished products, even though that law should rend asunder the golden veil which capitalism in its heyday has woven for us and should take us back for a while to an era of simple barter and exchange.

Such a measure, because it is the prerequisite to our return to economic sanity, must be taken promptly under advisement by the most capable representatives of our industry, commerce and finance.

For this purpose, too, we need a League of Nations adapted to our needs and desires.

'OUR SUPERSTITIOUS FANCY'

Because the nations with great stores of materials and manufactures have become even more eager to dispose of them than the poverty-stricken peoples are to purchase them it will inevitably come to pass that the matter-of-fact mercantile spirit of the world will prove more speedily effective in uprooting the weeds of hatred, envy and greedy egotism than all the sermons and moral exhortations in the world.

Upon the solution of this problem depends the strength of our resistance against communistic or utopian attacks; and it will be solved only when we have freed ourselves from the superstitious fancy that there can be any economic order so long as we continue our production in a wild and haphazard fashion, and then expect amid the press of competition to market our products by dint of cunning or force.

It is a superstition which we have borrowed unwittingly from nations in the back of whose heads, so to speak, there has lodged for centuries the thought that they could go on increasing their production without plan or limit, and then open new channels for it by the sword, overcoming any commercial crises by waging wars of conquest for the capture of new lands and new markets.

For this reason they built up powerful war machines and favored every sort of hothouse forcing of industry and trade in order to provide the enormous national budgets necessary for such a policy.

Woe to us if we allow ourselves to be tempted into taking the road which England has travelled in all parts of the earth, which was taken by Spain, Portugal, Holland and France in their day, and upon which the Germany of William II. tried to follow in their footsteps!

Certain it is that we might undertake such conquests with better prospects of success than ever an empire before us, even beyond the dreams of a Napoleon. But must Cain always become Abel, and shall the commandment which forbids us to covet anything that is our neighbor's forever fall on deaf ears in the concerns of national and international morality?

'EXPLOITATION IS GONE'

I see the eyes of our bankers, our coal, iron, steel and copper barons, our men of the Middle West and farmers of the Far West scanning the horizon of the Atlantic and the Pacific with mingled hope and anxiety, and in their eyes I read the question: "Where shall we find our next Ophir, whose slumbering gold we may waken and store in our treasure-houses; where the new Canaan that shall open willingly to products of our soil and our industries and pay us for them with flowing milk and fragrant honey?"

For them I have this message: "The times when a man, a people or a country could be merely an object for exploitation by and for the enrichment of another man, people or country are past and gone. Gone are the days of human slavery with their toll of bloody sweat; the days of a colonisation that forced upon uncivilised peoples such baneful necessities as whiskey, firearms or the baubles of fashion; gone the days of credits bearing interest at from 20 to 30 percent; of corners and other methods for cunningly inflating the prices of necessities up to five and ten times the cost of production.

"Withered is the conception of the rights and duties of the business man as it once flourished in the jungles of India and the frontier mining towns. It was a conception which our continent, in its infancy and middle age—or shall I suggest the double meaning of the European idiom and say, its Middle Ages?—has tabletted in gold and invested with the fragrance of all the flowers and sweet essences of all the wide ranges of humanity. But it is gone, never to return.

"Henceforth, a part of the treasures of the soil as well as of the labor of the individual belongs to the commonwealth, whether we call that commonwealth the State or society; henceforth, only such labor shall be recognised and permitted as will create useful values some where, either in the laborer's own or in other lands; will contribute to the civilisation and ennobling of humanity, and will help the great family of nations to order their household according to a reasoned plan adapted to the development of their technic and without too severe a burden of hardship and care."

$25 FINE FOR HOUSING RAT

London Astonished To Learn What New Law Provides

London, Feb. 10.—Anybody discovered harboring a rat or a mouse in his house is liable to a penalty of £5 under a law recently enacted by Parliament. If the "offense" is continued, he may be fined £20. Lieutenant Alfred E. Moore astonished a London audience by making these statements in a lecture on "Rats."

The reason why so few prosecutions had taken place under the "Rats act," as it was termed, was because the Board of Agriculture was waiting until the public had become more familiar with it.

Washington, Feb. 10.—It keeps 200,000 men working full time to support the nation's rat population, according to Biological Survey Bureau figures issued today showing that there are as many "common brown rats" as humans in the United States and that each of the 100,000,000 or more destroys $20 worth of foodstuffs a year.

They also maintain an efficient transportation system for "black death" and other plague germs, the bureau adds, in urging a starve and slay campaign to check "a real hazard against American lives and property."

Through the World-Famous

YANGTSZE GORGES

THE ROBERT DOLLAR CO.

WILL OPERATE THE FAST FREIGHT AND PASSENGER STEAMERS

"ALICE DOLLAR"

AND

"ROBERT DOLLAR II"

Between Ichang and Chungking, through the Wonderful Yangtze Gorges.

The s.s. ALICE DOLLAR" is a new vessel which will be completed shortly and the s.s. "ROBERT DOLLAR II" has been practically rebuilt. Both of these fine steamers are fast and no expense has been spared in fitting them with all modern comforts and conveniences, including large state rooms, electric lights, fans, refrigerator plants, excellent cuisine, etc.

We will despatch the s.s. "Robert Dollar II" from Shanghai for Ichang and Chungking on or about April 25th and the s.s. Alice Dollar," for the same ports, about May 15th.

Definite dates of sailings will be published later.

"THE OUTSIDER"

A Superb Photoplay of Poverty and Riches

Adapted by Charles A. Taylor from the Novel "NOBODY" by Louis Joseph Vance

"The Outsider" is a crook mystery photodrama, involving the theft of jewels in high society. Emmy Wehlen is featured and is attractive as the shop girl, who becomes social secretary to a wealthy woman, and is unjustly accused of stealing her jewels. The theft of two sets of jewels complicates the plot, and the mystery in which the story opens is maintained until the last reel.

FEATURING

HOUSE PETERS, JANE NOVAK

AND A CAST PAR EXCELLENCE, NO MORE TALENTED AND TYPICAL GROUP OF PLAYERS EVER PORTRAYED A FILM STORY!

THRILLING FASCINATING, GRIPPING, EXCITING— A BIG SENSATION!

"ISOBEL" or THE TRAIL'S END" ranks as one of the most remarkable film productions of the year.

Surely and beyond a single doubt it is the best story of the North-west ever told on the screen.

CRITICS AGREE THAT "ISOBEL" HAS A POWER, A GRIP, A SPIRITUAL NOTE AND LIFE-LIKE DIMENSIONS WHICH WILL BE CAUGHT BY THE SPECTATOR, SO MUCH SO, THAT ONE FORGETS THE ENVIRONMENT AND IS TRULY TRANSPORTED TO THE HUDSON BAY ITSELF.

AS GRIPPING AS ITS STORY WHICH BUILDS EVENLY AND SURELY TO POWERFUL CLIMAXES—CLIMAXES WHICH CONTAIN TWISTS AND SURPRISES AND KEEP ONE GUESSING AT THE OUTCOME—ONE OF THE MOST SUCCESSFUL STORIES EVER FILMED.

STRIKING SITUATIONS, RATTLING ACTION, SUSPENSE AND UNEXPECTED CLIMAX.

A screen play adapted from a James Oliver Curwood story has never failed to be rich in entertainment value.

The photoplay is filled with exciting action, manly combats and suspense. The plot oddly twists, but the denouement is logical and convincing.

Prices: $1.50 and $1.00 — Booking at Robinson's
